Art imitates life. Art also inspires life. This is the vision behind Lanterra Developments' newest condominium in the heart of the city. A fusion of Michelangelo's David and Rodin's Thinker. A true sculptural landmark. This is Artists' Alley, Lanterra's magnum opus.

Located between Simcoe and St. Patrick Streets, a stone's throw from downtown's famed art corridor, a new sculptural landmark is set to rise. A condominium inspired by art and infused with design. A canvas to express your zest for living. Introducing Artists' Alley, a master-planned mixed-use community with residential, office and retail, distinguished by Toronto's newest "alley" – a winding pathway that connects Simcoe with St. Patrick, a bustling promenade lined with shops, cafes and inspiring art, a place to meet, greet and socialize, a place to see and be seen. As an anchor to the community and a shining beacon for the area, the first 39-storey residential tower soars into the sky, a vision of shimmering vertical spandrel bands. The second 36-storey tower will have retail in the podium, while the third 17-storey tower presents a glistening facade of glass and cantilevered balconies and terraces. Original, creative, youthful, connected, vibrant. This is the most exciting arts community downtown has ever seen. Welcome home to Artists' Alley.
